

Contest Entry Participant Entry Form

This form indicates parental or guardian consent for a student to enter the 2010 Bridging Futures Contest and have their work used for educational purposes if selected.

The 2010 Bridging Futures contest is a joint effort between the Washington Department of Transportation and the I-90 Wildlife Bridges Coalition to teach students about the issues surrounding wildlife and roads. Then, we seek the students creative ideas to communicate about the problem or propose solutions through ads and short essays.

Permission is needed to ensure that ads can be used in our educational communication needs. The winning submissions will be produced into billboards, and additional submissions may be used to create educational books on the topic.

Please sign below to grant permission for entry.

Students Name:

Parent and/or guardian Name:

Parent and/or guardian signature:

Contact information:

If you have questions, please contact Amanda Sullivan at SullivA@consultant.wsdot.wa.gov or (509) 577-1942.